STANDARDS OF CONDUCT and
CODE of ETHICS FOR FEDERAL TECHNICIANS
NO EXPIRATION DATE

1. In accordance with Title 32 United States Code § 709, The National Guard Technician Act of 1968, full-time Technicians are required to be:

- a. A military technician (dual status)
- b. Members of the National Guard
- c. In a military grade specified by the Defense Secretary concerned
- d. In the appropriate uniform for the member's grade and component of the Armed Forces while duties as a military technician (dual status)

2. Congress enacted the National Guard Technicians Act primarily to enable the National Guard to carry out its military mission and to make technicians eligible for federal retirement and fringe benefits. Therefore, we are charged to promote the ability of our full-time workforce to make a quick transition to active duty status when required. National Guard technicians must perform to stringent military standards and ensure the continual readiness of equipment and personnel for deployment to meet the needs of the national defense and civil emergencies. This is reflected in the requirement for excepted technicians to maintain compatibility and military membership, and to wear the uniform as a condition of employment.

3. Public Law 104-106 and Technician Personnel Regulation 300-302.7 require all excepted technicians to wear the military uniform appropriate for the service branch of employment and federally recognized grade, and to do so in accordance with regulations pertaining to the proper wear and maintenance of the uniform (AR 600-9, AR 670-1 and AFI 36-2903). The proper wear of the military uniform includes wear of the proper military rank and does not include unauthorized additions or accoutrements. Military customs and courtesies will be adhered to.

4. Inherent of the Law, Department of Defense Directive 5500.7 and Technician Personnel Regulation 735 are the prescribed standards. Technicians are expected to maintain high standards of honesty and integrity on and off duty hours. Grooming and uniform standards will continue to be enforced. Technicians are reminded to refrain from relationships between members that violate the customary bounds of acceptable behavior, to include fraternization and other unprofessional relationships, in order to maintain good order, discipline, conduct, respect, maintenance of unit cohesion, and mission accomplishment. Although supervisors are ultimately held responsible for those under their supervision, these standards are the responsibility of each member. How we appear and present ourselves as a military organization and as individuals affects our public relations and can complement our dual citizen soldier and airmen roles in the communities in which we work and live.
